Building the Extraordinary Leadership Team

How would you like to make dramatic progress towards becoming a more cohesive, high-performing Leadership Team? No matter where your organization is in the stages of team development, this dynamic two-day event is designed to bring your leadership team to new and extraordinary levels. If you aspire to work together more effectively, consider the following:

➢ What could get accomplished if you were all willing and able to engage in constructive and meaningful debate as a means to greater understanding of differing viewpoints?

➢ How would it benefit your leadership team if everyone could ask for help or provide constructive feedback when needed?

➢ Are assumptions about the intentions of others interfering with clear and meaningful communication, especially controversial topics that are critical to team success?

➢ What if decisions could be made more easily and there was follow up to actions, without the issues resurfacing again and again?

➢ How would your ROI change if you were on target with deadlines and key deliverables?

➢ What would maximizing communication do for mission effectiveness and your bottom line?
