WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Executives, teams, entrepreneurs, managers, high achievers, every employee needing a shot of enthusiasm, optimism and innovative thinking.

Have you ever had one of those “aha moments” sitting at your desk, driving, or even in the middle of a deep sleep? If so you’ve tapped into the riches of your creative mind. “Tapping into Passion and Creativity” is a valuable LDi Success Series Seminar designed to connect with the unbridled smarts of the right side of your brain – the creative mother lode.

Companies today encourage innovation, but this often hinder the professional who already has too much on their plate, very tight deadlines and limited budgets. Who has time to be innovative?

With targeted activities designed to access innovative thought, this session will ignite the spirit and inner fire of you, your coworkers and your staff. Participants will leave with a toolkit for how to access right minded thinking back at work. They can also expect clarity, mental refreshment, insight and productive fun.
