

Sue Pighini

After her 25 years in corporate America with Marketing Corporation of America, USA Cable and Avon, Inc., Sue realized that there had to be more to her life. She is constantly exploring new paths of passion, paths that lit her life up.

Having helped hundreds of clients empower themselves through coaching, keynotes and seminars, Sue Pighini comes to Leader Development Institute as one of our most diversely experienced speakers. Ordained minister, certified Transformational Life Coach, certified clinical hypnotherapist, certified Intuitive Healer, former corporate executive and now a two-time author.

Sue shares poignant stories and commentaries about herself and of others who have shattered old patterns of victimhood and broken new ground to create the lives they have always wanted.

As an acclaimed author and trainer, Sue shares how to light up the passion of your life in Leader Development Institute's seminar and workshops, "Woman to Woman" and, "Live your Life on Fire". Sue draws from her background in corporate America in helping women learn to speak with their true, authentic voice and live a fully empowered life.

From her own near-death experience and that of others, her message is revolutionizing the way people perceive and live their lives. Sue's enduring love for horses, and the equine/spiritual connection she has discovered has opened her eyes even more to a pure belief in the power of an all loving Universe.

Whether Sue is speaking to you, 'woman to woman', or inspiring you to set your life on fire - at home, at work and throughout your life - Sue is deeply dedicated to helping people move beyond their own victimhood by really discovering what is holding them back. She helps you to understand that "victimhood" can be self-imposed by how we limit our thoughts and actions and create our own limitations. Henry David Thoreau said, "Our truest life is when we are in our dreams, awake," Sue will guide you there.

You are sure to walk away with new tools and insight on how to be extraordinary and have the success and happiness that is yours.
